

This sequence diagram is specific to the behavior when a FleshyTree in its Sprout stage is ticked by the game engine while one or more ContractedWorker are standing on an adjacent tile. It demonstrates the single-threaded constraint where spawning a Slime (one per adjacent worker) prevents growth in the same turn, but age still increments no matter spawning or growing. (as it is just internal state changes)

